MADAME CLARA BUTT

MR. KENNERLY RUMFORD

Madam Clara Butt and Kennerley Rumford come to Memorial Hall in the Frankenberg series of concerts April 21. A recent exchange says of their singing:

Adjectives fall short of describing Madame Butt's appeal to an audience; she must be seen and heard to be fully appreciated. A stately and gracious woman, cast in an heroic mould, endowed with a voice of magnificent power, and now in the very prime of her career, she proves a delight to both eye and ear.

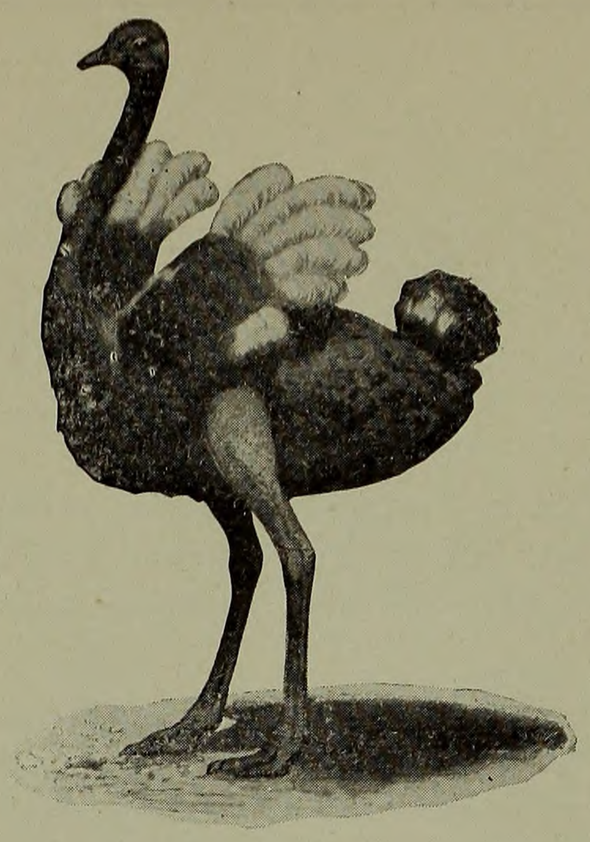

Her wonderful range and power were amply brought out by her selections. She aroused approval by her singing of "O Don Fatale," showed marvellous command in "L'Angelus," and won all hearts with the solemn majesty of her "Abide With Me."

Though Madame Butt undoubtedly was more of an attraction to last night's audience, Mr. Kennerley Rumford also came in for warm approval, and too much cannot be said in praise of his work. He has a rich baritone voice, a perfect enunciation and a magnetic personality. His dramatic rendering of "The Two Grenadiers," and the Hungarian folk song, "Shepherd, See Thy Horse's Foaming Mane," were fine performances, while his ballads won their way straight to the hearts of his hearers.
